

Our Story

Providence is an Australian veteran-owned professional services provider. We have delivered our services and specialisations to defence, government and industry since 2005.

Founded in Canberra and guided by our ethical, and unique approach to consulting, Providence has built a reputation as an authentic capability partner.

Our approach to partnering extends to collaborating with like-minded companies, such as Team Downer Major Services Provider Consortium (Providence is a founding member company) to ensure we deliver the best possible solutions to our clients.

With our highly experienced multi-skilled consultants we are proud of our culture, proven track record and the success we have shared.

Our Approach

At Providence we recognise our clients operate in dynamic highly complex environments, and face an ever-expanding array of challenges and multi-faceted problems to solve. Providence's people are driven by their desire to apply their expertise, experience and values to enable our clients to meet these challenges head-on and realise their futures.

Recognising the uniqueness of each client and issue we tailor our approach, people and delivery to ensure seamless integration, robust collaboration, and effective lasting solutions.

We engage our clients and our people with respect and humility to deliver the Providence Promise. This values-based approach is underpinned by persistent, open and honest three-way communications – between us, our clients, and our people - enabling the collaboration and critical thinking essential to solve today's and tomorrow's problems, deliver individual and collective growth and win shared success.

Our desire to make a positive impact and difference is fundamental. We are committed to delivering meaningful progress and enabling our clients, our people, and the community to solve complex problems, realise goals and ambitions, and contribute to national security outcomes.

Working together as genuine capability partners, we will unlock each others potential to deliver success together.

Experience. Success. Together.

“The work conducted by Providence in the development of the Department's systems for managing security has been exceptional. Providence provided expert guidance and developed high quality policies, frameworks, and products. Providence's support to me and my team has been invaluable.”

- Assistant Secretary, Security Branch
Department of Home Affairs

Our Specialisations

Strategy

We team with our clients to learn what drives their organisation, people and culture. Our comprehensive problem analysis and strategic business advice facilitates effective and considered decision making, lean business improvement and operational planning across all levels of an organisation.

“Providence have demonstrated their superior ability to unpack complicated issues and identify credible paths for the future....They coached us through a wide variety of critical thinking tools...”

- Colonel, Vice Chief of the Defence Force (VCDF) Group
Department of Defence

Delivery

Our project management, project controls, procurement, contracting and logistics specialists seamlessly integrate with you to facilitate the successful delivery of programs and projects regardless of their size and complexity.

“Your efforts have been instrumental in enabling the delivery of high-quality science and technology to the future submarine program. The governance and approaches developed have been espoused as exemplar...and...strengthened DSTG's reputation in delivering complex programs.”

- Division Head, Defence Science & Technology Group (DSTG)

Transformation

Delivering successful organisational transformation requires robust investigation, planning, communications and effective management. We integrate seamlessly to work with you to co-design and implement an approach aligned to your values, culture and organisational goals.

“We have achieved more in the last year than we have over many years thanks to the efforts of the Project DUNLOP team”.

- Director, Joint Health Command
Department of Defence

Enterprise Protective Security

We support and guide decision-makers and security practitioners across government, industry and academia, and shape positive security cultures. Our advisers are expert at providing security risk assessments, evidenced-based security and risk advice, security education and developing the frameworks for governing and managing enterprise protective security in line with the Protective Security Policy Framework principles.

“Providence brought a deep understanding of the Australian Government's protective security landscape and made practical and relevant contributions to all the work they were engaged for. They demonstrated their strengths as security risk practitioners and were able to share their skills and experience with departmental staff.”

- Project Manager, PSPF Enhancement Project
Department of Home Affairs
