

We support our clients across six pillars of capability

We are proud to support UK defence nuclear security across the Defence Nuclear Estate. Our unique position enables us to apply Relevant Good Practice from the civil sector to further enhance the security of defence programmes. We are equally proud to be in a position to leverage this experience, with US partners, to support the AUKUS programme through our Australian legal entity.

Our work in support of defence nuclear includes:

- Supporting clients in understanding and implementing compliant arrangements to meet the introduction of nuclear security policy and regulation.
- Organisational design and competency development.
- Independent assurance of strategy and plans.
- Provision of trusted support and advice to key decision makers.

Case Study

GNSP delivered the first ever comprehensive nuclear periodic nuclear security review of a major UK defence nuclear site. The review included the application of civil nuclear security methodologies for the first time. The review secured significant additional funding for our proposed enhancement programme.
